I have a Master's in Biblical Counseling and am a Mental Health Coach with a passion to help hurting women. After going through counseling myself for severe anxiety and depression from past trauma I have come to understand the importance of having a safe place/person to talk to that has also worked through tough issues. I have personally seen God work in amazing ways in transforming our hurts to divine healing. Change is possible and I would love to walk this journey with you.

Psalm 34:18" "The LORD is close to the brokenhearted and saves those who are crushed in spirit."
